

VDE-2025-071: Phoenix Contact: Multiple Vulnerabilities in FL SWITCH 2xxx Firmware

Publisher: Phoenix Contact GmbH & Co. KG	Document category: csaf_security_advisory
Initial release date: Tue Dec 09 09:00:00 CET 2025	Engine: 2.5.41
Current release date: Mon Jan 12 09:00:00 CET 2026	Build Date: Thu Jan 08 16:13:18 CET 2026
Current version: 2.0.0	Status: FINAL
CVSSv3.1 Base Score: 7.1	Severity: High
Original language: en	Language: en-GB
Also referred to: VDE-2025-071, PCSA-2025-00012

Summary

Multiple vulnerabilities have been identified in the FL SWITCH 2xxx firmware prior to version 3.50. Two of these (CVE-2025-41692 and CVE-2025-41696) enable an attacker to access the device's file system. Two other vulnerabilities (CVE-2025-41693 and CVE-2025-41694) are related to Denial of Service (DoS) attacks, which partly limit the device's functionality. Another vulnerability (CVE-2025-41697) allows an unauthenticated physical attacker to access a login shell via an undocumented UART port. Furthermore, there are multiple vulnerabilities relating to reflected cross-site scripting in the web-based management of the device. All vulnerabilities have been resolved in firmware version 3.50.

General Recommendation

Phoenix Contact recommends operating network-capable devices in closed networks or protected with a suitable firewall. For detailed information on our recommendations for measures to protect network-capable devices, please refer to our application note.

Impact

Availability, integrity, or confidentiality of the FL SWITCH 2xxx can be compromised by attacks using these vulnerabilities.

Remediation

Phoenix Contact recommends to update to the latest 3.50 Firmware Release which fixes these vulnerabilities.

Vulnerabilities

Weak/Predictable root Password (CVE-2025-41692)

CVE Description

A high privileged remote attacker with admin privileges for the webUI can brute-force the "root" and "user" passwords of the underlying OS due to a weak password generation algorithm.

CWE: CWE-916: Use of Password Hash With Insufficient Computational Effort

Authenticated Denial-of-Service via SSH (CVE-2025-41693)

CVE Description

A low privileged remote attacker can use the ssh feature to execute commands directly after login. The process stays open and uses resources which leads to a reduced performance of the management functions. Switching functionality is not affected.

CWE: CWE-770: Allocation of Resources Without Limits or Throttling

Authenticated Denial-of-Service via Webshell (CVE-2025-41694)

CVE Description

A low privileged remote attacker can run the webshell with an empty command containing whitespace. The server will then block until it receives more data, resulting in a DoS condition of the websserver.

CWE: CWE-770: Allocation of Resources Without Limits or Throttling

Reflected XSS vulnerability in dyn_conn.php (CVE-2025-41695)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in dyn_conn.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to send a manipulated POST request to the device in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_portCntr2.php (CVE-2025-41745)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_portCntr2.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to send a manipulated POST request to the device in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_portSecCfg.php (CVE-2025-41746)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_portSecCfg.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to send a manipulated POST request to the device in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_vlanIntfCfg.php (CVE-2025-41747)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_vlanIntfCfg.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to send a manipulated POST request to the device in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_Dot1xCfg.php (CVE-2025-41748)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_Dot1xCfg.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to click on the link provided by the attacker in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in port_util.php (CVE-2025-41749)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in port_util.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to click on the link provided by the attacker in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_PortCfg.php (CVE-2025-41750)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_PortCfg.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to click on the link provided by the attacker in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Reflected XSS vulnerability in pxc_portSfp.php (CVE-2025-41752)

CVE Description

A XSS vulnerability in pxc_portSfp.php can be used by an unauthenticated remote attacker to trick an authenticated user to click on the link provided by the attacker in order to change parameters available via web based management (WBM). The vulnerability does not provide access to system-level resources such as operating system internals or privileged functions. Access is limited to device configuration parameters that are available in the context of the web application. The session cookie is secured by the httpOnly Flag. Therefore an attacker is not able to take over the session of an authenticated user.

Hardcoded User Password (CVE-2025-41696)

CVE Description

An attacker can use an undocumented UART port on the PCB as a side-channel with the user hardcoded credentials obtained from CVE-2025-41692 to gain read access to parts of the filesystem of the device.

CWE:	CWE-798: Use of Hard-coded Credentials

Shell access to UART Console (CVE-2025-41697)

CVE Description

An attacker can use an undocumented UART port on the PCB as a side-channel to get root access e.g. with the credentials obtained from CVE-2025-41692.

CWE: CWE-1299: Missing Protection Mechanism for Alternate Hardware Interface
